Father's Body in Cellar

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16.—Two warrants charging murder were issued today against Dr. Robert N. McCracken, fifty-three years old, of Granue Drive, Belle, Mo., former coroner of St. Clair County and former Health Commissioner of East St. Louis, who was arrested yesterday in the investigation of the murder of Mrs. Clara Richwine, thirty-five years old, wife of a barber, and her father-in-law, William Richwine, seventy-four, who were found slain in their home near East St. Louis last Monday. Dr. McCracken is widely known in southern Illinois.

The police last Monday found the bodies of the murdered persons in their home. Mrs. Richwine was lying nude on the dining room table. Her father-in-law's body was found in the cellar. Dr. McCracken had been physician for the Richwine family for a number of years.

Neither the police nor the State's Attorney's office would make a statement as to the information upon which the doctor was arrested and later charged with the two murders. The physician asserts his innocence. His bond was fixed at $20,000 on each charge, a total of $40,000, which he furnished at 3 p. m.

The warrants were issued by Justice of the Peace William J. Kane, of St. Clair County, on information sworn to by H. C. Lindauer, Assistant State's Attorney, who charged Dr. McCracken with the murders. The warrants were served on Dr. McCracken at the police station. Justice Kane set January 23 as the date of a preliminary hearing in East St. Louis.

After the issuance of the warrants Dr. McCracken's attorneys filed a habeas corpus writ in the East St. Louis City Court. They told Judge Cook that Dr. McCracken said he was innocent and that no evidence of his guilt had been offered. Lindauer said the defendant was held under a warrant and he still had no testimony to offer at this time, being unwilling to disclose his evidence.

Volstead 'Pros' and 'Cons' Prepare for Ohio Fight

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—The National Association to Repeal the Prohibition Amendment today launched a nationwide campaign to repeal the Volstead act at a meeting here today, while near the Constitutional Liquor Convention laid plans to enforce more strictly the prohibition law.

The fight to permit the sale of beer and light wines will be submitted to Ohio voters this fall under the referendum law. Captain William H. Stayton, managing vice-president of the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, announced that the Constitutional Liquor Convention of Prohibitionists, Inc., of the supporters of the Citizens' Alliance, Dry Movement League, Anti-Saloon League and the county and non-partisan W. C. T. U., announced its members would begin the immediate organization of Ohio by wards and precincts to bring about the enforcement of the law and give the wetts a fight in every precinct.

Bequests of $250,000 Left by Mrs. Peabody

Gifts to Servants, $20,000;
Pine Garde Association
Residuary Legatee

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Specific bequests aggregating more than $250,000, in addition to annuities and gifts to servants totaling $20,000, were provided for in the will of Mrs. George Foster Peabody (formerly Mrs. Spencer Trask), which was admitted to probate late today. The Pine Garde Association, organized several years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Trask for the purpose of devoting their property to the public service, will be the residuary legatee.

The will provided that Yaddo, Mrs. Peabody's estate here, should become the property of the Pine Garde Association. It was announced by the association last week that the estate would be used as a temporary home for "those who have shown unquestioned artistic merit and promise of accomplishment or actual accomplishment."

Mr. Peabody will receive $20,000, the life use of the "West House" on the Yaddo estate, and his wife's letter-manuscripts and papers. George L. Nichols, of New York, a brother, was bequeathed her summer home at Friana Island, Lake George, and $50,000. Diamond Island in Lake George was left to the American Scenic and Historical Preservation Society. Miss Allen G. Pardee, a companion for many years, was given an annuity of $8,400, the life use of five acres of the Trask estate and $15,000.

Jury Split in Eum Trial

At 11 o'clock last night the jury in the Federal District Court, which went out early in the evening after hearing the five-day trial of Daniel Docherty in connection with an alleged attempt to smuggle $4,400,000 worth of alcohol into this port, reported that it had been unable to agree. The talemens will resume their consideration of the evidence in the morning.

The alcohol involved in the case was under seal in the hold of the steamship Javary when she arrived here from Baltimore December 11. According to the ship's manifest, it was consigned to Constantino, but the government asserts that thirty-five drums of it were syphoned off on the first two nights in port through a hatchway, which was covered with tarpaulin when the customs men in the Maryland city placed the seals. Docherty was captain of the Javary and president of the corporation which owned her.
